

I-Write short notes on the following points: (30 marks)

- a- Corruption of the London city.
- b- Joseph Andrews's character.
- c- Gender roles as depicted in Joseph Andrews.

II- The tussle between chastity and lust is a major theme in Henry Fielding's Joseph Andrews. Discuss. (20 marks)

III- Comment critically on one only of the following quotations: (20 marks)

- a- "The world is always on the side of prudence...and would surely condemn you if you sacrificed your interest to any motive whatever."
- b- "She resolved to give a loose to her amorous inclinations, and to pay off the debt of pleasure which she found she owed herself."

End of test...

Best of luck!

Dr. Rashad Mokhtar

Evaluation of marks is based on the following criteria:

- Correctness of information and relevance to the questions.
- Logical development of discussion.
- Language proficiency.