IMPORT BIBLIOGRAPHIES

Searching an online database

1. Pubmed

a) Method 1: Search in databases and export citations (PubMed)

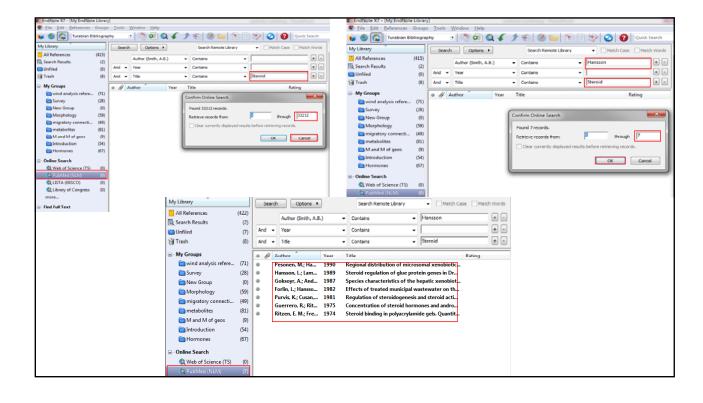

b)Method 2: Search PubMed directly in EndNote

- 2. Select the Reference Type from the drop-down list of available reference types.
- 3.Enter the information for each field.

Find Full Text

- If you don't have the full text article of a reference in your library, EN can try to find it for you.
- Select the references in your EndNote Library and run the Find Full Text command.
- If the full text article is freely available on the internet or if you have access to it through a subscription, EN will try to download it for you and attach it to the references.

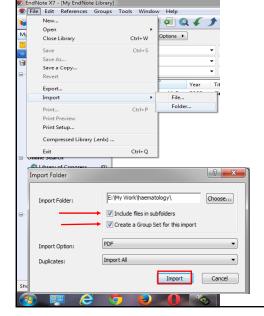

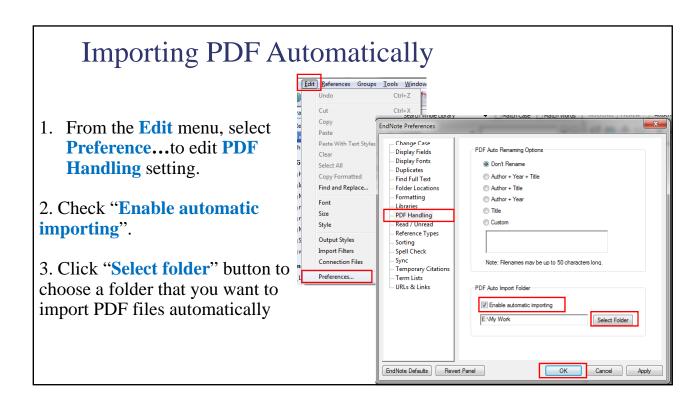

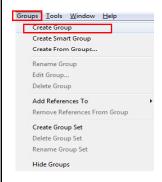

- 1. From the File menu, select Import > Folder
- 2. Click the Choose button to open the Browse for Folder dialog. Select the needed PDF folder. If the selected folder contains sub-folders, click the "Include files in all sub-folders" button. Check "create a Group Set for this import" can create groups.

Manage references and full texts efficiently.

CREATE GROUPS

Create Group

1.To create a custom group, select create group from the groups menu.

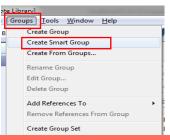

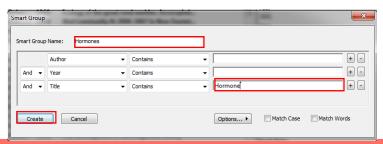

- 3. Select the references you want to add to the new group, then click and drag them to the group.
- 4.The new group now contains all the references dragged to it.

2.Type in the name of the new group and press the enter key.

Smart Group

Smart Groups are based on a search strategy and will automatically update, so you don't have to drag the references to a smart group.

- 1.Select create smart group from the groups menu.
- 2. Type in the name of the new smart group.
- 3. Build your search strategy for the group. Title contains "Hormone".
- 4.Click on the create button to create the smart group.
- 5.All the references with the term "Hormone" are now shown in the new smart group.

From Groups

Creating a group based on existing groups.

- 1.Select "create from group" from the groups menu.
- 2. Type in the name of the new group.
- 3.The new group I'm creating here will show me only the references appearing in the selected groups.
- 4. Click on the create button to create the from group.

CITE WHILE YOU WRITE

Add references to your paper

1.Place your cursor where you want to insert a citation.

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1. Migration as a phenomenon

Migration can basically be described as a regular seasonal movement between breeding and wintering areas, and it is a common and taxonomically widespread phenomenon in nature. Seasonal long-distance migration can be seen in many arthropod

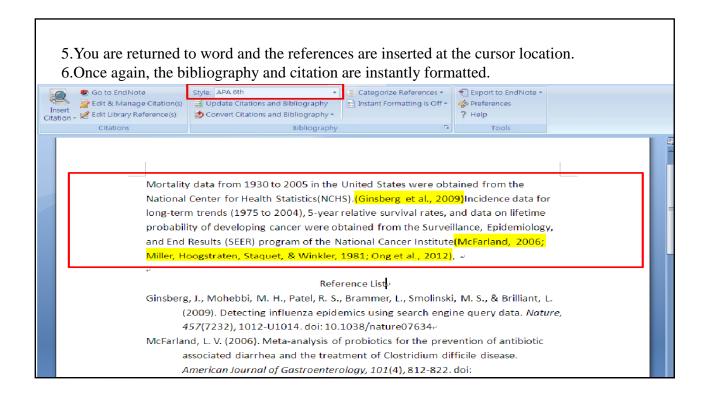

2.Click on the go to EndNote button

3. Select a reference or set of references to insert.

If you wish to insert multiple references, hold down the control key while selecting the references.

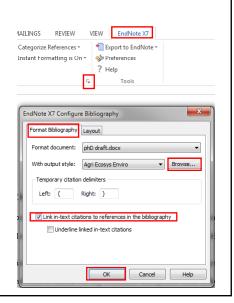

4. With the references selected, select the "Insert Citation" button on the EndNote toolbar.

Format Bibliography

- 1. Open the format bibliography command by selecting the small arrow at the button right of the bibliography group.
- 2. The first tab, Format bibliography, allows you to select the bibliographic style to be used in your document from a drop-down list.
- 3.If you want to add a new style, select the browse button to bring up a list of the styles installed on your computer.
- 4. Select the style you want to use
- 5.If you would like the citations in the document to be hyperlinked to the matching references in the bibliography, you can turn hyperlinking on in this screen.

Format bibliography

- 1.On the layout tab you can select the font and font size that will be used for your entire bibliography.
- 2. You can add a title, such as reference.
- 3.If you want to format that title differently, selecting the title's text, then selecting the text format button, will let you change the font for just the title.

Format bibliography

- First line indent will change the indentation of the first line of each reference.
- Whether or not there is a hanging indent is set in the style, but in this window you can change the width of that hanging indent.
- The line spacing option applies to all the text in the bibliography.
- The space after option allows you to add extra spaces between references.
- When all options are set, you select the ok button to apply the changes.

Formatted citations contain hidden field codes, indicated here by the gray shading, and if you try to delete text from a formatted citation or type directly into it, those changes will disappear the next time the bibliography updates. The correct way to edit citations

The composition of current influenza protein vaccines has to be reconsidered every season to match the circulating influenza viruses, continuously changing antigen city.(Bragstad, Vinner, Hansen, Nielsen, & Fomsgaard, 2013) Thus, influenza vaccines inducing a broad cross-reactive immune response would be a great advantage for protection against both seasonal and emerging influenza viruses.(Alsaleem, 2013; Bertran et al., 2011).

- 3.Select the citation to be removed and choose "remove citation" from the drop-down list.

Insert Citation:

- Choose the insert citation option from the drop-down list at the right.
- This brings up the find citation window.
- Perform my search for the new reference then select the insert button.

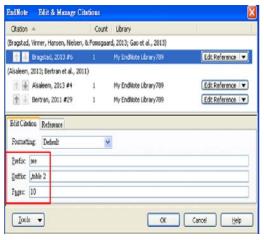

- Edit library reference would switch to the EndNote program and open the record for viewing or editing.
- Update from my library: The citation in the paper will be updated to match the library.

Add Information:

- I want to add information to the reference, indicate that the item is in table 2 on page 10.
- In the pages field I will add the page number.
- Note that the pages field will only work with bibliography styles that require page numbers.
- And type "see" in the Prefix field.
- In the suffix field I will add ", Table 2."

Categorize References

- 1. Click "Group References by Custom Categories".
- 2.Click "Configure Categories..." to set Categories.

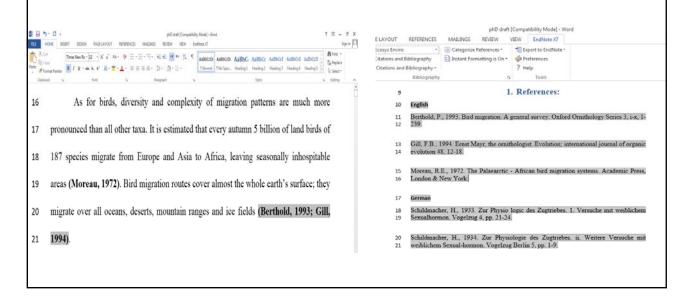

- 1. Click the Category name and Right click to rename or add Category headings.
- 2. Choose "All Reference in Bibliography" to select references and drag them to the category

Remove Field Codes

- You need to remove Cite While You Write field codes before you hand over your document to a publisher or colleague.
- On the EndNote tab, in the Bibliography group, select Convert Citations and Bibliography and then Convert to Plain Text.
- A copy of the document, without field codes, appears in a new document window.

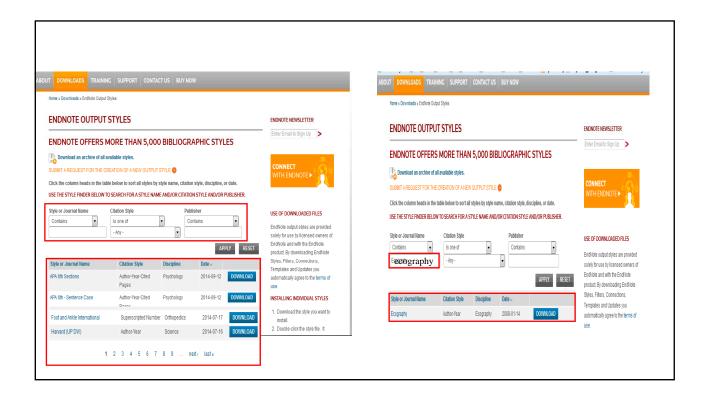

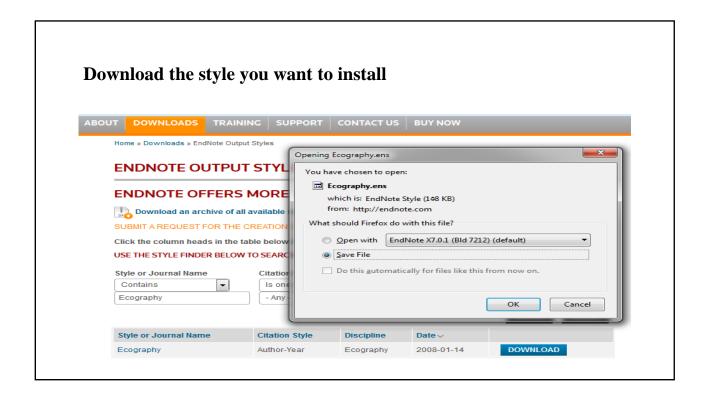

The copy does not contain Cite While You Write field codes, so you cannot reformat with Cite While You Write. Keep the original document for editing by Cite While You Write.

EndNote Backup and Share

- Open the EndNote library. From the File menu, select Compressed Library (.enlx)
- 2. select "Create."
- 3. select "With or Without File Attachments."
- 4. select the scope of compressed file.
- 5. Click Next to display a file dialog.

- Use the file dialog to save the EndNote Compressed Library and give it a filename
- To open the compressed file by double- clicking the file.

Export Traveling Library

EndNote creates a hidden "traveling" library containing only the references used in each paper. This traveling library is part of the coded information contained in each citation. Use this command to export the references (exclude Notes, Abstract, Figure & Caption) in this traveling library to a regular EndNote library.
